- Carefully cut along the black outer lines of each strip, until you have 9 individual strips.
- You can apply a very small amount of glue to the shaded area, use tape, or staples to join the ends of your strips.
- To ensure proper order, the markers should match when joined - looking like a little bowtie with identical letters.

Once assembled, grey areas should be hidden by the end of the previous strip. If using glue, apply very thin layer to these areas.
